

Public Lecture:

"When Germans were Refugees:
Compassion, Aid and the Limits of
National Solidarity after 1945"
A moral history of Germany, part one

Professor Frank Trentmann
Consumer Society Research Centre, University of Helsinki
Birkbeck College, University of London

18th September, 10 o'clock a.m. (the event ends at 12 o'clock p.m. at the latest),
University of Helsinki, Lecture hall 6 (University of Helsinki, Main building, Fabianinkatu 33)

The lecture is open to anyone interested, You are very welcome!

We have the honor to introduce to you Frank Trentmann, professor of modern and contemporary history. He has published widely on political culture, consumption and civil society, and is now turning his attention to the transformation of morality in modern society.